TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

This is to certify that three photos printed in the new edition of Hoa Dia Nguc ("Flowers of Hell"), published in 2006 by the East Coast U.S.A. Vietnamese Publishers Consortium, are pictures taken by the Palo Alto-based photographer Jean Libby, to wit:

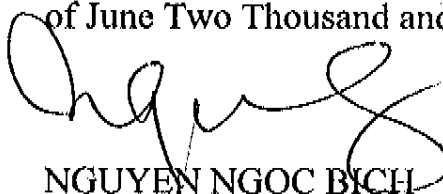

1/ The cover photo of Nguyen Chi Thien with his back on the sculpture "The Gates of Hell" by Auguste Rodin, which is housed at Stanford University;

2/ The photo of Nguyen Chi Thien with the family of his brother, Nguyen Cong Gian, on page 61 (this was taken in the home of the brother in Herndon, VA, in October 2005); and

An acknowledgement of Ms. Libby's generous permission for us to use these photos could be found on page 31 of the new edition.
